Pottenstein and the local area

The city of Pottenstein, altitude 360 – 450 m above sea level, with it's 1.500 inhabitants, is a nationally acclaimed climatic health-resort. It nestles at the joining point of the Püttlach, Weiherbach and Haselbrunnbach valleys surrounded by high cliffs and at the foot of the 1.000 year old castle that has played an important role throughout the city's history. Holy Elisabeth, wife of Ludwig from Thüringen was known to live within it's walls from 1228 – 1229. Many buildings carry, with honor, her name even today. It's legend that, while being threatened, the eggs and lard in her carrying basket were transformed into beautiful roses. The market square, with it's statue of Holy Elisabeth, the Catholic church, many stores, restaurants and hotels from the central area of the city. The guestrooms are mostly in the residential areas, found in the valleys leading out of the center of town, and in and above the cliffs overlooking the city.

The health center with it's massage department/Medical Swim Therapy Department (approved by all health insurance companies), the Therapy Station for Respiratory Illnesses located in Devils Cave (please refer to separate pamphlet), the Kneipp facility, the Tourist Information Center, the park, Putt Putt golf, Tennis courts, Schöngrund Lake with it's row and pedalboat facility, and many more, are among the recreational facilities that are easily reached from all the residential areas.

Picturesque wood framed houses, mills, and trout filled streams bestow the village with that touch of romance which characterizes the Fränkische Schweiz areas.

The scenic landscape and nature offer a wide spectrum along with one of a kind features such as the Devils cave with it's fascinating stalactite and stalactite caverns. Approximately 300 kilometers of well marked paths offer excellent hiking possibilities. (Please take note of the path description table).

The village of Kirchenbirkgig, 480m above sea level, 450 residents, Weidenloh 460m above sea level, 70 residents, both nationally acclaimed climatic health resorts and Trägweis, 500m above sea level, 80 residents are located south of Pottenstein on a richly forested, hilly, high plateau.

Kirchenbirkgig's over 1000 year history is connected very rural peace and good lodging in self-accommodating apartments, private rooms and Guesthouses. Most of the apartments and Guesthouses are especially suitable for vacationing families.

Hiking to the Fränkische-Schweiz-Museum is made easy by using the well marked paths. It's main subjects of display are early history, rural culture, handicrafts, customs, Geology and Judaism.

Two charming camping grounds are situated beautifully amongst forest and streams in the immediate Pottenstein area.

The climatic health resort Haselbrunn, 370m above sea level, 40 residents, which is located 2 kilometers north of Pottenstein offers guests a pleasant stay in a good guesthouses and private rooms/apartments. It's attractiveness is enhanced by it's valley location.

The village Haßlach, 400m above sea level, 60 residents, Rackersberg, 400m above sea level, 80

In general

Transportation: The `Fränkische Schweiz` is located within the city triangle, Bamberg- Nürnberg- Bayreuth and is bordered on its west side from the river Regnitz and the Rhein-Main-Donau Canal. The federal highway 505 bounds the area in the north, the Autobahn A9 on the east, and the federal highway 2 on the south. The main access roads are Autobahn Berlin-Munich (A9) exits Pegnitz or Trockau, (Autobahn Nürnberg-Bamberg) exits Forchheim or Eggolsheim/Ebermannsstadt and B470 which also serves as the main throughway and connection between all of the roads mentioned above. It also goes through the middle of Pottenstein. A net of high quality secondary roads connect the villages with each other.

Topographic:

The landscape of our Jurassic Highlands, is dominated by dolomite which is very porous. This characteristic causes the dolomite stone to erode faster than the other layers of sandstone. The result is bizarre naked rock formations some forming massive rock towers. The results can also be in the form of Stalactite caverns which are common in the `Fränkische Schweiz`. The biggest and most beautiful of these stalactite caverns is the Devils Cave, found just outside of Pottenstein and easily accessed by car or by foot on every scenic path.

Climate:

`Crystal Clean Air` is the predicate of the whole area. Its charming climate has earned the title Nationally Acclaimed Climatic Health Resort for Pottenstein and many of the surrounding villages.

Flora and Fauna:

The vegetation is just as highly diversified as the landscape. Carnations, anemones are just a few of the many different types of flowers that grow out of the stony ground. Gentian and Juniper are common on the rock clustered hills. The middle European wildlife is solidly situated in the mixed forests of Pine, Birch and Beech trees.

Economy:

Farming is done mostly as a secondary income although many farms do offer the experience `vacation at the farm`. Most residents hold jobs in the nearby cities or cater to tourist needs. A landscape or rest disturbing industry is nowhere to be found.

Gastronomy:

A very wide range of kitchen specialities are typical for this area. Fresh trout, potato-dumplings, deer, wild boar, asparagus, fränkische sausage, smoked meats, just to name a few. The famous fränkische Beer can be compared with the best in Germany.

Sport:

Climbing and rappelling from beginner up to high Alps level, hiking, horseback riding, swimming, biking, rowing, in rowboats, canoes and kajaks.

Excursions:

A well planned web of superbly marked paths connect castles, mills, caves and the individual valleys with one another. Marked circular paths with hiking huts for the walkers and many rest and parking areas for driving site-seekers provide access to the most beautiful parts of the Nature-parks `Fränkische Schweiz – Veldensteiner Forst`.
